

Communication is the most critical tool in the deaf community. For the years, we had struggled to find the ways in making communication easier between us and our physicians, lawyers, agents, and especially our parents, families, and friends. I believe that VRS is the only one to assist the millions of deaf people (who strongly replies through American Sign Language and has difficulty mastering in written and speaking English.) and the millions of people with hearing loss.